Dear Sara,

Thank you so much for your e-mail. I really appreciate your writing to me about the challenges you are facing learning Spanish. Learning a foreign language is never easy. When I read your e-mail, I thought what a smart girl you are for having chosen Spanish. You know it is the most widely spoken language in the world other than English. It is spoken in twenty countries. There are almost five hundred million Spanish speakers worldwide. So if you keep up your Spanish Sara, you could be one of them. My best advice to you dear is to continue learning Spanish as you are smart. Remember you went through the same experiences when learning French and English and now you speak both fluently in addition to your own language, Arabic. This will help you fulfil your dream of getting a job at the United Nations after you have completed university. I will always be there for you my dearest niece.

Much love,

Auntie Azza
